

Will approval of the bond referendum increase taxes?

No. The Henrico County Board of Supervisors reduced the real estate tax rate by 2 cents, to 85 cents per $100 of assessed value, when it adopted the county's 2022-23 budget. Costs associated with the issuance of bond debt and the operation of new facilities can be supported by current county revenues.

HENRICO COUNTY 2022 BOND REFERENDUM

Election Day: Tuesday, Nov. 8

Absentee voting:
Friday, Sept. 23 to Saturday, Nov. 5

HENRICO COUNTY 2022 BOND REFERENDUM

Henrico County voters will have the opportunity to participate in a bond referendum to approve more than $511 million in funding for proposed county capital projects — including new and renovated schools, firehouses and parks — as part of the 2022 general election.

The bond referendum will appear as four questions on the ballot, with a separate question for each project category: schools; recreation and parks; fire stations and public safety facilities; and stormwater drainage. Voters may cast a “yes” or “no” vote for each of the four questions; individual categories can be approved or rejected. Approval of a category by a majority of the votes cast authorizes the county to contract debt and issue its general obligation bonds to fund the projects.

Following are the questions for the bond referendum as they will appear on the ballot, as well as the proposed projects and their funding amounts (only the questions will appear on the ballot). Absentee voting, including in-person, will begin on Friday, Sept. 23. Election Day is Tuesday, Nov. 8.
