The National Association of Counties (NACo) has appointed 10 Henrico County officials to serve on the association's policy steering committees. Each NACo appointment is a one-year term.

Henrico County Board Chairman and Tuckahoe District Supervisor Patricia S. O'Bannon will serve on the Transportation and Telecommunications Committee; Vice Chairman and Fairfield District Supervisor Frank J. Thornton will serve on the Human Services and Education Committee; Brookland District Supervisor Richard W. Glover and Three Chopt District Supervisor David A. Kaechele will serve on the Taxation and Finance Committee; and Varina District Supervisor James B. Donati, Jr. will serve on the Community and Economic Development Committee. Henrico County Manager Virgil R. Hazelett, P.E. will serve on the Justice and Public Safety Committee; Deputy County Manager George T. Drumwright, Jr. will serve on the Health Committee; Deputy County Manager Harvey L. Hinson will serve on the Environment, Energy, and Land Use Committee; Deputy County Manager Robert K. Pinkerton will serve on the Public Lands Committee; and Director of the Capital Area Training Consortium (CATC) Rosalyn D. Key will serve on the Employment Committee and serve as Vice Chair of the Dislocated Workers Subcommittee.

NACo is the only national organization representing county governments in the United States. Its goals are to improve county government, act as a liaison with other levels of government, serve as the national voice for counties, and to advance public understanding.

NACo's 10 steering committees form the policy-making arm of the association. Each committee is comprised of approximately 50-60 county officials who meet several times a year to examine issues critical to local government, and make recommendations on legislative policies and goals before Congress and the White House.

The Henrico County General Registrar's Office is hosting an intern from Pretoria, South Africa, from October 13, through November 5. The International Foundation for Election Systems (IFES) is sponsoring Edward Nkhangweleni Lambani, a participant in its Hatfield-Dixon Internship Program. IFES is a private, nonprofit and nonpartisan organization that seeks to bring executives from emerging democracies to the United States for intensive professional development in elections and voting processes.

Lambani will be meeting with Henrico County officials, the State Board of Elections and local media, while observing all facets of the elections process. Henrico will hold local elections on Tuesday, November 2.

Lambani serves as the Chief Director of Legal Services for the Independent Electoral Commission in Pretoria, and is the former Chief Executive Officer for Randfontein Transitional Local Council. Furthermore, Lambani spent ten years in the legal profession and has earned several law degrees.

"We are very honored to have such a distinguished guest and welcome him to Henrico County. We will work hard to help him gain valuable information to take back to his country," said Henrico's General Registrar Janet C. Coon.

"Transforming Henrico's Public Libraries - How Will Their New Technology Serve You in the Next Millennium?" is the topic of Board Chairman and Tuckahoe District Supervisor Pat O'Bannon's next town meeting on Wednesday, October 20, at 7 p.m., at the Gayton Public Library, 10600 Gayton Road.

Representatives from Henrico Libraries will join O'Bannon in leading the program and answering questions. O'Bannon encourages anyone interested in learning more about Henrico's public libraries to attend.

"Libraries play a significant role in many of Henrico's communities, therefore it is important to know the scope of services and information they will provide in the future," said O'Bannon.

O'Bannon's monthly town meetings are open to the public. For more information, Internet users may visit her website at www.patobannon.com.
